

Amanda L. Gugliano, Psy.D., has been a licensed psychologist in Mississippi since 2011. She holds bachelor's degrees in psychology and sociology from Lindenwood University and a master's and doctorate degrees in clinical psychology from the Arizona Professional School of Psychology. Dr. Gugliano is currently the Director of the Forensic Evaluation Service at Mississippi State Hospital and an adjunct professor at Jackson State University. She often serves as a liaison between the Forensic Evaluation Service and the court system. As part of her private practice, she provides forensic psychological evaluations for the Federal Public Defender's Office and the United States Attorney's Office in Mississippi's Northern and Southern Districts. She specializes in criminal forensic psychological evaluations, including competence to stand trial, mental state at the time of the alleged offense, mitigating circumstances, ability to waive or assert constitutional rights, violence risk assessments, Atkins evaluations, and competence to be executed. She has provided expert witness testimony in Mississippi and North Carolina state courts and Federal District Court.