

Alexander Ignatiev sprung into this world on the coldest day of October 1976 in Milwaukee, Wisconsin. He grew up in the whitest of the suburbs of Grand Rapids, Michigan, the Furniture City. After graduating from Georgetown University, he fled south to Mississippi to escape matriarchal tyranny, and he attended and graduated from The University of Mississippi School of Law with noted ethicist Zach Scruggs. He clerked for the late Court of Appeals Judge Billy G. Bridges, also known as The Man from Rankin County. He became a full-time public defender in October 2016. He is most noted for his luxurious beard, many fine track suits, and gravelly Johnny Cash karaoke performances. Enthusiastically described as “vulgar” by one currently sitting Circuit Court judge, Alex can be encountered on the daily at the Lamar County Public Defender’s office in beautiful Purvis, Mississippi. He intends to live forever or die in the attempt.
