

Carla Carter serves as an Associate Deputy Director for Enforcement within the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, Office for Civil Rights. In her role, Carla is responsible for developing civil rights enforcement strategies, policies, and guidance to clarify covered entities' responsibilities under federal civil rights laws. Additionally, Carla provides technical assistance to federally assisted entities to ensure compliance with civil rights laws in health and human service programs. Before joining OCR, Carla served as legal counsel with the NYC Administration for Children's Services and provided direct child welfare services to children and families in various roles including, as a caseworker, family preservation worker, and foster care supervisor. Carla holds a J.D. from the City University of New York Law School and has a B.A in Early Childhood Education from Lincoln University.